

Greetings Storytellers and Welcome to this Month's Word Circus

Here you'll find daily writing prompts to spark creativity and get your ideas spinning, and words flowing.

With the daily Word Circus, you are encouraged to set aside anywhere from 10-20 minutes at the start of the day for free writing inspired by the day's prompt.

Some prompts will ask you to write or finish a scene. If you are a creative writer, screenwriter, or playwright, you are encouraged to write from the POV or in the voice of one of your characters. Some prompts are more reflective and universal in nature. You can print this document and write on the lines provided or write in a separate journal or composition notebook. You choose.

The only rule is to set a timer and don't stop writing until the timer dings, rings, or sings.

That means no self-editing, no overthinking, and no perfectionism!

Just write!!!

This month you are invited to clown around with words, stories, and ideas as you take the daily writing plunge. Have fun and get to writing.

Until Today, Storytellers

A stylized handwritten signature in black ink. The signature consists of a large, bold letter 'A' that loops around to form the letter 'R'. The name 'Joel' is written in a cursive script above the 'R', and 'Ryan' is written in a similar script below the 'R'.

MARCH 1

Jesse wanted _____, Jerry wanted _____, which prompted the fight of the century. Finish the Scene.

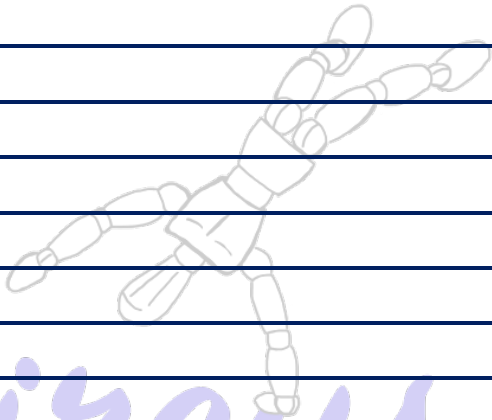

Handwriting practice lines with a large watermark reading "WORD" and "Circus" and a drawing of a hand.

MARCH 2

What was the first poem or story you ever wrote? Looking back, how good/bad was it?

WORD

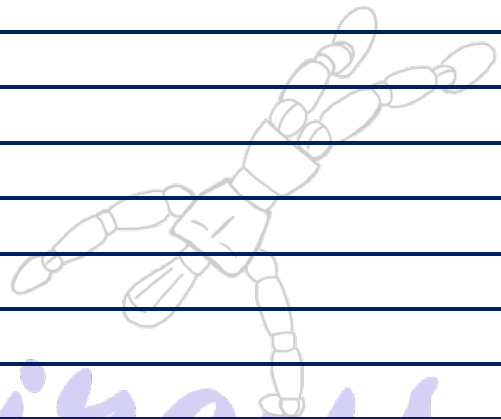

Circus

A line drawing of a hand with fingers spread, positioned above the word 'Circus'. The hand is oriented diagonally, with the thumb pointing towards the bottom left and the fingers pointing towards the top right. The drawing is simple, showing the outline of the hand and fingers.

MARCH 3

The Force was with Luke Skywalker, or so he thought, until he missed his shot on the Death Star.
Finish the Scene.

WORD

Circus

MARCH 4

What is your biggest pet peeve?

WORD

Circus

A line drawing of a hand with fingers spread, positioned above the word 'Circus'. The hand is oriented diagonally, with the thumb pointing towards the bottom left and the fingers pointing towards the top right. The drawing is simple, showing the outline of the hand and fingers.

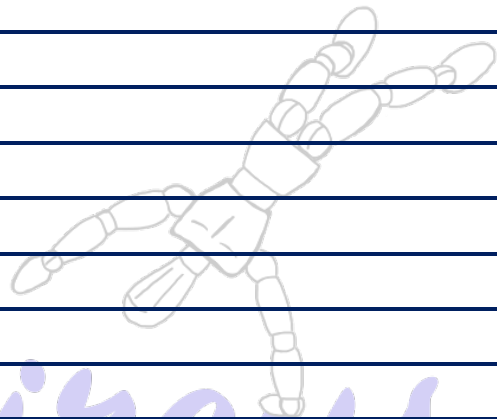

MARCH 2021

MARCH 5

A backyard of screaming four-year-olds ran in every direction when Jillian hit the pinata and, instead of candy, out spilled _____. Finish the Scene.

Handwriting practice lines (ruler lines) for the scene completion.

WORD

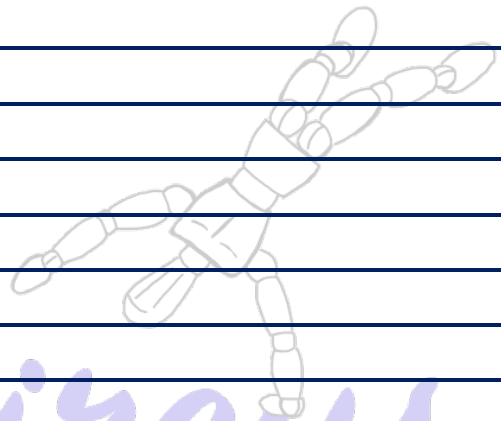

Circus

MARCH 6

What's one ride at Disneyland you'd be okay with riding all day?

WORD

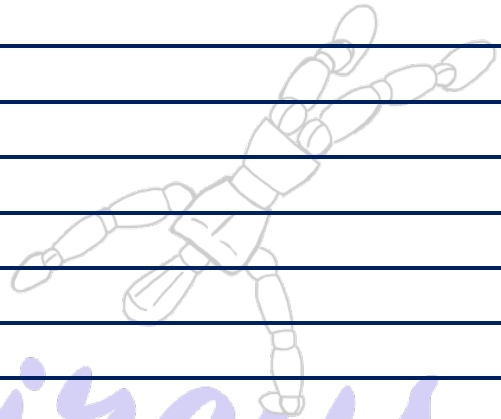

Circus

MARCH 7

It sounded like a good idea at the time... Write the Scene.

WORD

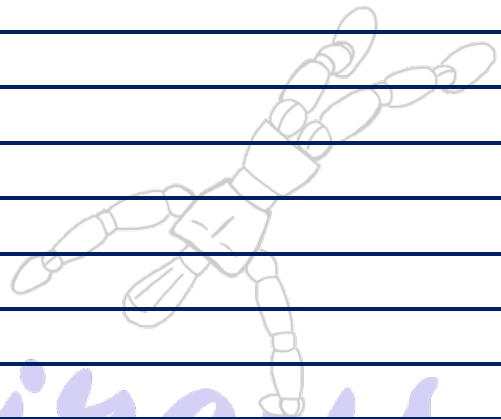

Circus

MARCH 8

Clown around with the word “snollygoster” today by making up a definition and using it in a Dr. Seuss’ inspired poem or short story.

WORD

Circus

MARCH 9

What's one story/article/idea you're too afraid to write or share with others?

WORD

Circus

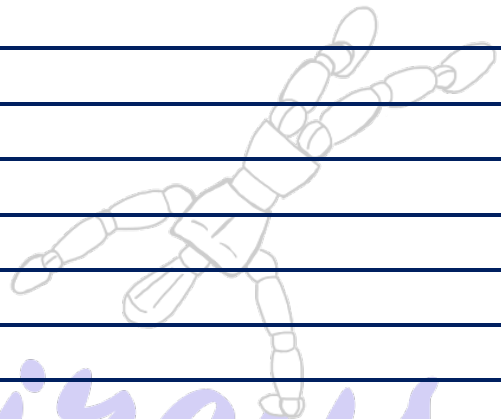

A line drawing of a hand with fingers spread, positioned above the word 'Circus'. The hand is oriented diagonally, with the thumb pointing towards the top right and the fingers pointing towards the bottom left. The drawing is simple, showing the outline of the hand and fingers.

MARCH 2021

MARCH 10

Describe the worst superpower ever!

WORD

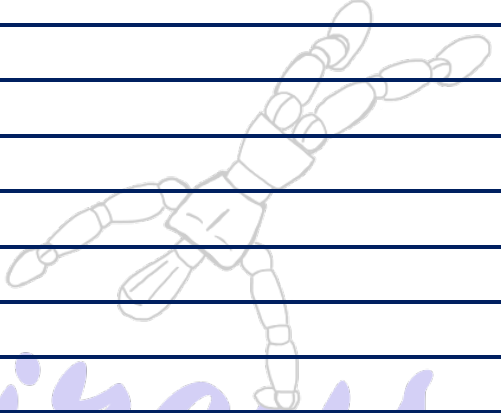

Circus

MARCH 11

Write a scene where worst/most inept superhero imaginable interviews for a job with The Avengers he certainly won't get.

WORD

Circus

A line drawing of a hand with fingers spread, positioned above the word 'Circus'. The hand is oriented diagonally, with the thumb pointing towards the bottom left and the fingers pointing towards the top right. The drawing is simple, showing the outline of the hand and fingers.

MARCH 2021

MARCH 12

What was your biggest goal/dream when you were ten-years old?

WORD

Circus

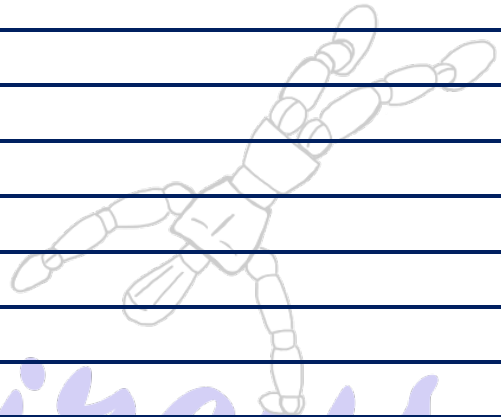

A line drawing of a hand with fingers spread, positioned above the word 'Circus'. The hand is oriented diagonally, with the thumb pointing towards the top right and the fingers pointing towards the bottom left. The drawing is simple, showing the outline of the hand and fingers.

MARCH 2021

MARCH 13

Daniella couldn't wait for lunch, but when she finally opened her lunchbox, she was horrified to find _____. Finish the Scene.

WORD

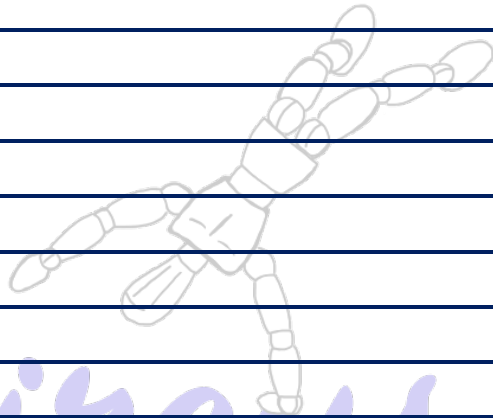

Circus

MARCH 14

If you had to describe your hometown for a travel magazine, write the advertisement that would make tourists want to visit?

WORD

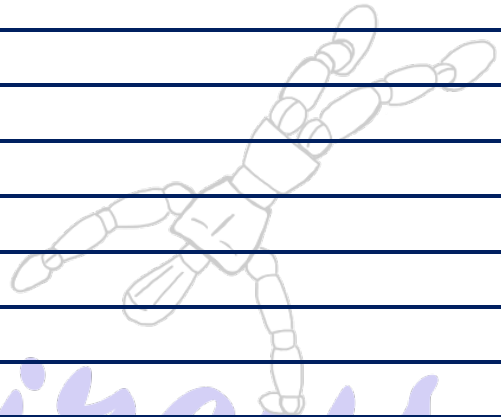

Circus

A line drawing of a hand with fingers spread, positioned above the word 'Circus'. The hand is oriented with the palm facing downwards and the fingers pointing outwards. The drawing is simple, with visible joints and segments on the fingers and wrist.

MARCH 15

Now write the promo for a fictional town that no one in their right mind would ever want to visit?

WORD

Circus

MARCH 16

What's your favorite place to write?

WORD

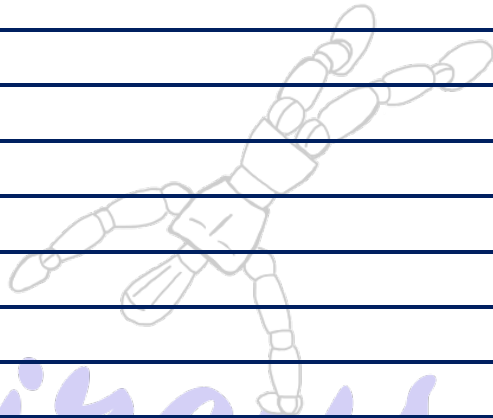

Circus

MARCH 17

You've just been hired to write the cover letter for a fictional supervillain (i.e. Hannibal Lecter, Norman Bates, The Joker). What "skills" will you promote?

WORD

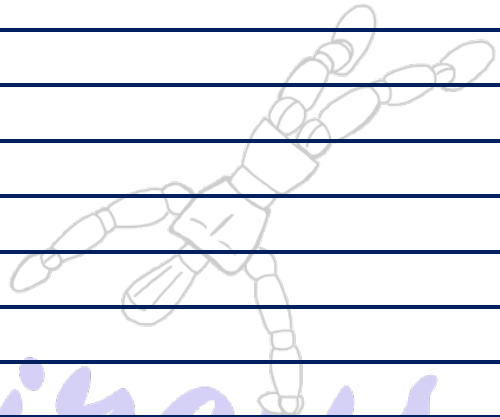

Circus

A line drawing of a hand with fingers spread, positioned above the word 'Circus'. The hand is oriented with the palm facing left and the fingers pointing upwards and to the right. The drawing is simple, with clear outlines for the hand and fingers.

MARCH 18

Brock held the record for being the only to _____ a thousand times in one hour. Finish the Scene.

WORD

Circus

MARCH 19

If you had to be stuck on a ten-hour flight, who would you most like to sit next to?

WORD

Circus

A line drawing of a hand with fingers spread, positioned above the word 'Circus'. The hand is oriented diagonally, with the thumb pointing towards the top right and the fingers pointing towards the bottom left. The drawing is simple, showing the outline of the hand and fingers.

MARCH 2021

MARCH 20

What's one thing you refuse to leave home without?

WORD

Circus

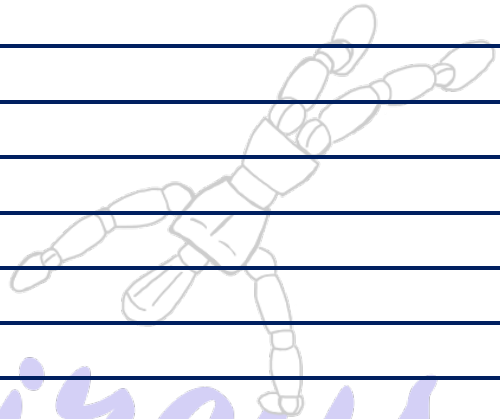

A line drawing of a hand with fingers spread, positioned above the word 'Circus'. The hand is oriented diagonally, with the thumb pointing towards the top right and the fingers pointing towards the bottom left. The drawing is simple, showing the outline of the hand and fingers.

MARCH 2021

MARCH 21

Layla didn't put the cap back on the milk because _____. Finish the Scene.

WORD

Circus

MARCH 22

What's one thing you'd actually be okay with someone stealing from your car?

WORD

Circus

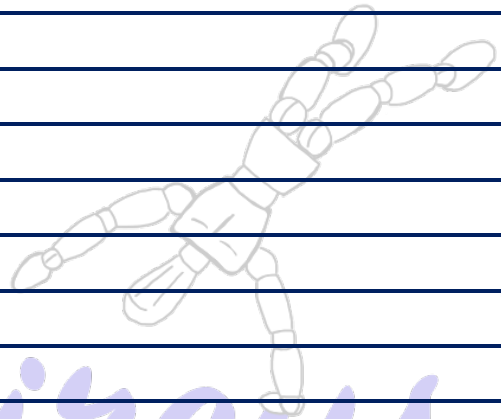

MARCH 2021

MARCH 23

Ezra knew that if he called his brother a _____, he'd be grounded for the rest of his life. Instead, he called him a _____ to try and sidestep their mother's wrath. Finish the Scene.

WORD

Circus

MARCH 24

What's one thing you are grateful for?

WORD

Circus

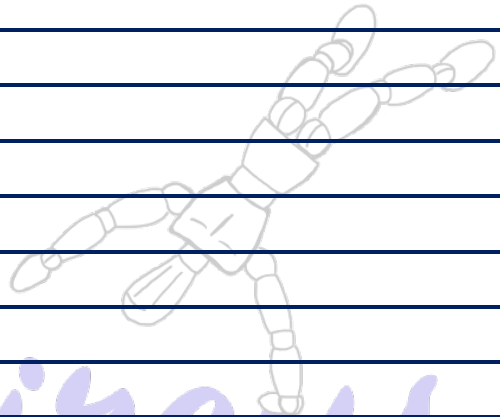

A line drawing of a hand with fingers spread, positioned above the word 'Circus'. The hand is oriented diagonally, with the thumb pointing towards the top right and the fingers pointing towards the bottom left. The drawing is simple, showing the outline of the hand and fingers.

MARCH 2021

MARCH 25

Marcos wasn't afraid of anything, until _____ made him walk away from the $10,000 prize on Fear Factor. Finish the Scene.

WORD

Circus

MARCH 26

What is your biggest weakness as a writer/storyteller?

WORD

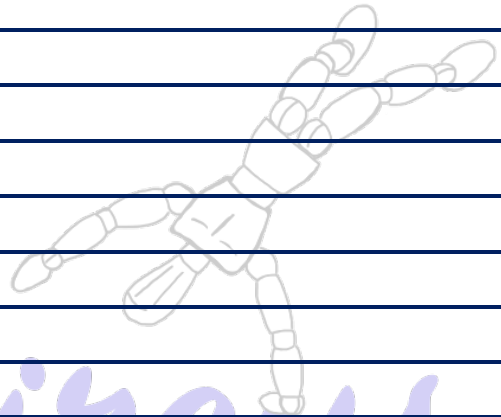

Circus

MARCH 27

Leland knew the perfect place to hide the money he'd just stolen from the bank. Finish the Scene.

WORD

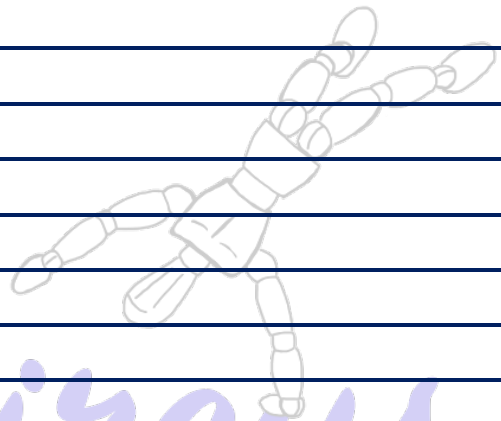

Circus

MARCH 28

Describe the best movie theater snack?

WORD

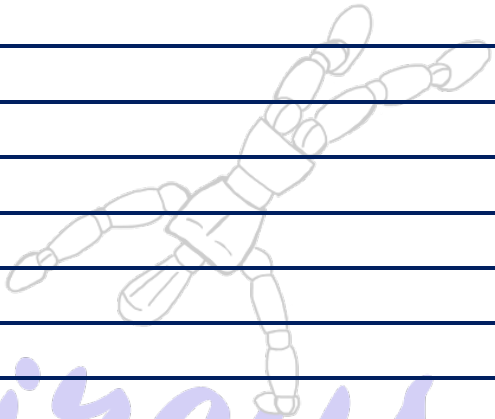

Circus

MARCH 29

Describe the most unlikely sport to be included in the Olympics.

WORD

Circus

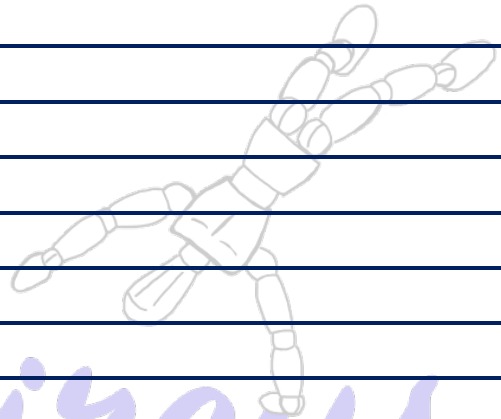

A line drawing of a hand with fingers spread, positioned above the word 'Circus'. The hand is oriented diagonally, with the thumb pointing towards the top right and the fingers pointing towards the bottom left. The drawing is simple, showing the outline of the hand and fingers.

MARCH 2021

MARCH 30

It was warmer than expected inside the belly of the whale. Finish the Scene.

WORD

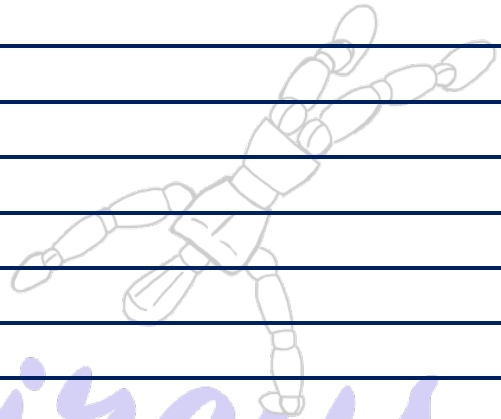

Circus

MARCH 31

If you were stuck on a ten-hour flight, who would be the worst person to have to sit next to?

WORD

Circus